

Brownies

Enjoying a really Deep sleep with the sharks

More than 190 local Brownies, Guides, and Rangers along with their leaders enjoyed a sleepover at an aquarium in Hull.

They arrived at The Deep after it had closed to the general public, allowing them private and unlimited access to the attraction.

The first couple of hours were spent having a guided tour of the tanks, where they were introduced to species of fish from all over the world, including several swordfish, stingrays and sharks.

After their tour they all met for a giant picnic supper before heading off to do activities. Brownies made mermaids while older girls made badges and everyone designed and printed their own t-shirts, supplied by The Deep.

An hour or so later they were shown to the places where they would be sleeping, in front of the large tanks containing the sharks.

Bronia Trynka-Watson, the Guide and Ranger leader who organised the visit, said: "The lights were dimmed and it eventually became eerily quiet with the sharks and other fish swimming around nearly everywhere you looked."

In the morning, The Deep provided everyone with breakfast and the coaches were back at 9am.

The sleepover at The Deep

'The lights were dimmed and it became eerily quiet with the sharks swimming around'